The Genealogy and Local History Department (3rd floor, Main Library's South Building) is the oldest collection of its kind west of the Alleghenies. One of the top genealogical libraries in the country, The Public Library of Cincinnati & Hamilton County offers research materials that can be identified via the Library's online catalog accessed at <http://catalog.cincinnati.library.org/>. A Surname Index, found by selecting "Advanced Search" on the opening page of the catalog, gives an option of "Family Surname." This specialized database lists family history books that index a particular surname three or more times. PLCH is one of only a handful of public libraries to have the complete U.S. census microfilm from 1790-1930, and all available soundex and printed census indexes. Other significant collections include city, county and state histories; Ohio death certificates for 1908-1953; Kentucky death certificates 1911-1957; city directories for Cincinnati and other cities (from 1800s to early 1900s); ship passenger indexes and selected manifests for the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts; military records (including pension and service record indexes), gazetteers and land ownership maps. There are also 1300 genealogy periodical titles. Of particular interest is the department's concentration of plantation records, Freedmen's Bureau Records and African American military records (including records of U.S. Colored Troops during the Civil War), making it one of the most complete African American collections in the U.S. A substantial mixture of ethnic-related materials for researching German, Irish and Jewish ancestry is available.
